О себе

Предпочтения в работе

I want to take up the post of Web-developer.

I expect for interesting and difficult tasks with the possibility of maximum development and self-realization.

My advantages are the desire for self-development, the desire to radically disassemble every technology I study, and the love for writing the code.

I will be useful at different levels of development in the company: I can not only click on buttons, but I see myself as a future automation.
